

Medicaid Secondary Payer

Expert consultation and lien identification for Medicaid compliance and savings

Stay ahead of changing Medicaid regulations

State Medicaid agencies continue to more aggressively pursue their recovery rights under federal law. On this point, the United States Supreme Court recently ruled in Gallardo v. Marstiller, 142 S.Ct. 1751 (U.S. June 6, 2022) that State Medicaid programs may seek reimbursement of its recovery claims from settlement amounts representing payment for past and future medical care. It's critical that claims payers have a game plan to properly address Medicaid secondary payer issues, including identifying potential Medicaid liens and negotiating with state agencies to reduce recovery claims as appropriate. We are here to help you reach a satisfactory settlement while effectively guiding you in your Medicaid secondary payer compliance.

Our Medicaid secondary payer services provide you with:

- medicaid lien identification and resolution
- expert-led consultation for Medicaid compliance
- collaboration with your counsel and claims staff to ensure full Medicaid compliance

Our experts are here for you

Respond to medical reporting and verification requirements with MRN

In addition to these services, if your company is a member of ClaimSearch®, you can participate in the Medicaid Recovery Network (MRN) formally known as, Medical Assistance Intercept System (MAIS), as an add-on matching service. ClaimSearch Medicaid Reporting Service helps your organization respond to the Medicaid reporting and verification requirements in Rhode Island. ClaimSearch can also assist with Texas Health and Human Services (HHSC) optional opt-in reporting which initiated in 2018. MRN functions to recover and intercept Medicaid payments that the agency issues on behalf of Medicaid recipients if an insurer pays on a claim. MRN is actively engaged with additional states seeking an online solution to identify claims wherein the state Medicaid system is not a primary payer.

We can take the lead in investigating and identifying Medicaid liens and revealing your potential exposure. Our consultation services provide essential assistance to ensure you're compliant with federal and state processes.
