VERISK EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP

Steven Kauderer

President, Claims Solutions

Steven Kauderer is president of Verisk's Claims Solutions business, leading the team in delivering insights and innovative solutions that help insurers and claims ecosystem participants streamline the claims process with greater accuracy, efficiency, and speed. Steven joined Verisk in February 2026, focusing on harnessing data, technology, and global expertise to help clients deliver superior claims experiences and performance.

Steven brings more than 30 years of strategic consulting experience advising leading global insurance carriers and brokers. Most recently, he was a senior partner at EY-Parthenon, where he built and led Enterprise Reimagined, the firm's transformation practice helping financial services organizations drive profitable growth. Previously, Steven was a senior partner at McKinsey & Company, leading the global insurance practice with emphasis on property and casualty and life insurance. His insurance consulting background also includes a senior partner role at Bain & Company.

A former underwriter with deep knowledge of the insurance landscape, Steven is a frequent keynote speaker at industry conferences and has written extensively for insurance publications on technology transformation, customer experience, and operational excellence.

He holds a bachelor's degree in American Studies from Vassar College and an MBA from Yale School of Management.
